

MELROSE
LEGAL PUBLISHERS
THE HAGUE

Committed to Quality

The State and Legal Traditions of Mongolia: An Historical Overview

By Jigjid Boldbaatar and Danzan Lündeejantsan
With an introductory essay by Rüdiger Wolfrum and Naiade el-Khoury

ISBN HB: 978-90-834075-2-4
ISBN e-book: 978-90-834075-3-1
DOI: 10.63006/ALTU7609

490 pages (xxxii + 458)

Publication Date: February 2025

Offering a comprehensive summary of the history of the Mongolian state and legal system from the Hun (Xanadu) Empire to the present day, this encyclopedic volume is a pioneering undertaking by its two Mongolian authors. No other book exists in English matching its breadth and wide-ranging scholarship, which draw upon a vast array of (multi-lingual) sources. The volume uncovers the role played by the Mongols in global and regional statehood history. The Mongols' profound influence is evident in their contributions to establishing a vast unified country between Russia and China.

The State and Legal Traditions of Mongolia

An Historical Overview

Jigjid Boldbaatar and Danzan Lündeejantsan

With an Introductory Essay by Rüdiger Wolfrum and Naiade el-Khoury

MELROSE
LEGAL PUBLISHERS
THE HAGUE

A detailed, but concise description of the governmental structure of Mongolia as developed over centuries, demonstrating its development and decline as well as its re-establishment. During this process, Mongolia faced some of the same problems western European States did, such as the problem of self-identification and the forming of a people of the State, the legitimacy of its governmental system and a legal system matching its cultural particularities. The responses to these challenges differed in each era and thus illustrate the various models in developing a Statehood.

- PROFESSOR (EM.) RÜDIGER WOLFRUM, Professor of Comparative National Public Law and International Public Law at the University of Heidelberg, Faculty of Law

Jigjid Boldbaatar (Sc.D.) is a Member of the Mongolian Academy of Sciences (Academician) and Professor of History at the National University of Mongolia and Shihihutug University; he was a former member of the Constitutional Court of Mongolia and a member of Parliament from 1992 to 1996.

Danzan Lündeejantsan (Sc.D.) is the President of the Academic Council and a Professor of Comparative Law and Constitutional Law at Shihihutug University; he was the former Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the State Great Hural (Parliament) of Mongolia, and a member of Parliament from 1990 to 2020.

Contents

Preface

Preface to the Mongolian Editions

List of Diagrams

About the Authors

Introductory Essay by Rüdiger Wolfrum

and Naiade el-Khoury

Introduction

- 1 The State and Legal Systems of the Early Mongol Empires and Dynasties (4th Century BCE–12th Century CE)
- 2 The State and Laws of the Great Mongol Empire (13th Century)
- 3 The State and Laws of the Mongol Yuan Empire (13th Century–14th Century)
- 4 The State and Laws of the Mongol during the Period of Political Fragmentation (14th Century–17th Century)
- 5 The Administrative Structure and the Laws of Mongolia under Manchurian Rule (17th Century–20th Century)
- 6 The State and Laws of “Exalted by All” Mongolia (1911–1920)
- 7 The State and Laws in the Period of Struggle for the Establishment of a Constitutional Structure in Mongolia (1921–1924)
- 8 The State and Laws during the Period of the First Constitution (1924–1940)
- 9 The State and Laws during the Period of the Second Constitution (1940–1960)
- 10 The State and Laws during the Period of the Third Constitution (1960–1990)
- 11 The State and Laws during the Short Transition Period of the Constitution (1990–1992)
- 12 The State and Laws of Present-Day Mongolia (1992–Present)

Appendix 1: List of Names of Mongol Khans and Other Mongolian Leaders

Appendix 2: Chronology of Events in Each Chapter

Bibliography

Index

Price from € 145/US$ 151.99/UK£ 121.99 (excl. VAT/excl. shipping)

How to order: good bookshops and online booksellers (Amazon/Waterstones/Barnes & Noble/etc.)

For more information: Melroselegalpublishers.com